

Study in the USA

For general information about studying abroad please read the section of this Careers Website called 'Study Abroad'. However as studying in the USA is by far the most common country where students choose to study this separate section has been created.

If you have an interest in studying for a Higher Education qualification in the USA there is a specific organisation that can help, the US-UK Fulbright Commission provides information and advice on how to choose a course, applications and funding. The Commission holds a variety of USA study events in the UK including the yearly USA College Day Fair in London during the Autumn term. At the Fair there are many representatives from a wide range of USA universities available to answer all of your questions. Students and Parents can both attend. Use www.fulbright.org.uk 020 7498 4010 for information on the Fulbright Awards Programme and the EducationUSA advice line.

The Sutton Trust US Programme in partnership with the US-UK Fulbright Commission runs each year a one week summer school scheme for students from low income families who are academically bright and who are attending state schools. The Scheme gives the students a taste of what it would be like to study at a university in the USA and also offers help with making an application and provides general information and advice about studying in the USA. To find out more and for information on eligibility criteria use <https://us.suttontrust.com>
